

Terms of Service - ADS Vision

By using this website or providing your contact information, you agree to these Terms of Service. ADS Vision provides information, quotes, follow-up, and customer support related to its lighting products and services.

By submitting your information, you authorize ADS Vision to contact you by phone call, SMS, or WhatsApp solely in connection with your inquiry. ADS Vision does not send unsolicited messages or use purchased contact lists.

You may opt out of receiving messages at any time by replying STOP or by submitting a request through our contact channels.

All content on this website is the property of ADS Vision. ADS Vision reserves the right to modify these terms at any time.

Message frequency varies and depends on your interactions with us.

Privacy Policy - ADS Vision

ADS Vision respects and protects the privacy of users who visit this website and communicate with us.

The personal information we collect - including your name, phone number, email address, and information related to your inquiry - is provided when you voluntarily contact us through forms, advertisements, phone calls, or messages. We use this information to provide information, follow up, and deliver customer service.

We use your information only to:

- Respond to requests for information
- Follow up on quotes and projects
- Provide customer service and support

ADS Vision does not sell, rent, or share personal information with third parties for commercial purposes.

By providing your information, you expressly authorize ADS Vision to contact you by phone call, SMS, or WhatsApp in connection with your inquiry. You may opt out of receiving messages at any time by replying STOP or contacting us directly.

We implement reasonable measures to protect personal information. You may request that your information be updated or deleted by contacting us.
